

Dillon Eustace advises on sale of Oligo Swiss Fund Services SA

Dillon Eustace, the leading Irish law firm, recently advised the owners of the Swiss FINMA-accredited fund services company Oligo Swiss Fund Services SA (Oligo) on its sale to the DMS Group (DMS).

Founded in 2014, Oligo is authorised and regulated to represent funds distributed in Switzerland and currently works with more than 500 foreign funds. Its comprehensive service includes fund representation, distribution services and arrangements with the paying agent bank.

The acquisition builds on DMS' successful track record as an experienced European AIFM and UCITS Management Company, with an unrivalled team and geographical reach. By joining with Oligo, DMS will now offer Swiss fund services and bespoke solutions to clients comprising UCITS funds, Hedge funds, Alternative Investment funds, Private Equity funds and ETF certificates distribution to professional and private Swiss investors.

Commenting on the deal, Philip Lea, Partner in Dillon Eustace's Corporate and M&A department, who led on the transaction, said: "We are delighted to have advised on the sale of Oligo Swiss Fund Services and this deal marks another corporate transaction in the financial sector on which the Corporate department has advised this year."
