The update adds one new question and answer to section IX – Remuneration on page 39 of the document. The question posed is:

Question 1: Do the remuneration-related disclosure requirements under Article 69(3)(a) of the UCITS Directive also apply to the staff of the delegate of a management company to whom investment management functions (including risk management) have been delegated? The answer is in the affirmative.

For further information please find a copy of the Q&A here.

(iii) Commission proposes Draft Delegated Regulation for safekeeping duties of Depositories for UCITS and AIFs

On 29 May 2018, following an ESMA Opinion, the European Commission published its draft Delegated Regulations on the safe-keeping duties of depositories for both UCITS and Alternative Investment Funds (“AIFs”) (the “Draft Delegated Regulations”).

The Draft Delegated Regulations will provide further clarity on the depositories safe-keeping duties while increasing investor protection in asset segregation, record keeping, reconciliation frequency and contractual arrangements.

▣ The UCITS Draft Delegated Regulations will provide further clarity to the requirements laid down in the UCITS Directive and supplemented by Delegated Regulation 2016/438 which sets out the safe-keeping obligations of depository delegates to UCITS clients' assets.

Having noted diverging application by national competent authorities and market participants in overseeing and implementing obligations on depositories of UCITS client assets, the European Commission proposes via the Draft Delegated Regulation to amend the following Articles 13(1)(c); 13(2); 15; 16; 17(2); 17(3); and 22(3) in the Delegated Regulation 2016/438 in order to clarify further the requirements on depositories of UCITS clients' assets and enable a uniform application of the obligations across the European Union. The UCITS Draft Delegated Regulation can be viewed here.

- The Draft Delegated Regulation for AIFs will provide further clarity on the requirements and obligations of depositories in relation to the safe-keeping of AIF clients' assets as set out in the AIF Managers Directive and specified further in the Delegated Regulation 231/2013.

The Draft Delegated Regulation for AIFs was prompted by the European Commission's recognition of diverging applications of depositories' obligations to protect AIF clients' assets by national competent authorities and market participants and proposes to amend the following Articles 89(1)(c); 89(2); 98; and 99 in the Delegated Regulation 231/2013 in order to rectify these shortcomings and enable a uniform application of the obligations across the European Union. The AIFs Draft Delegated Regulations can be viewed here.

(iv) Irish Funds issues responses to Draft Delegated Regulations as regards the safekeeping duties of Depositories for both UCITS and AIFs

On 26 June 2018, the European Commission published two responses from Irish Funds to proposals on the safekeeping duties of Depositories for both UCITS and AIFs:

- The first response offered feedback on the proposed amending Delegated Regulation (EU) No 2016/438 regarding safekeeping duties of Depositories for UCITS funds, available here; and
- The second response offered feedback on the proposed amending Delegated Regulation (EU) No 231/2013 regarding safekeeping duties of Depositories for AIFs, available here.

The responses focused on the preservation of the Depository's right to delegate the registration and maintenance of the Depository's books and records.

Irish Funds stated that it required additional clarity and amendment within the draft Regulations with respect to the following areas:

- Asset segregation, particularly the requirements imposed on Depository Delegates and Sub-Delegates;
- Reconciliations, particularly with respect to the frequency proposed and how this obligation should be applied in the context of delegation; and

- ▣ Contractual requirements and their application to Depositary Delegates and Sub-Delegates.

(v) Irish Funds issues response to Central Bank consultation on UCITS Regulations

On 29 June 2018, Irish Funds published a response to the Central Bank Consultation Paper 119 on amendments to (and consolidation of) the Central Bank UCITS Regulations (the “Regulations”).

Alternative Investment Fund Management Directive (“AIFMD”)

(i) Market trends of the AIF industry revealed

On 4 April 2018, unprecedented data outlining the market trends of all AIFs operating within the European Union was published in the ESMA report – ‘Trends, Risks, Vulnerabilities, Report No. 1, 2018’ (the “Report”). The collection of this data was facilitated by the stringent reporting obligations placed on AIFs and AIF managers (“AIFM”) introduced by the AIFMD which came into force in 2013.

The Report’s findings include that:

- ▣ The passport regime is the predominant method of managing cross-border AIFs in the European Union;
- ▣ A few large AIFs are currently dominating the market;
- ▣ Under the AIFMD AIFs are classified under different types of funds: hedge funds, real estate, funds-of-funds, private equity, “other” or “none”. The category “other” is used for 67% of the total assets managed by AIFMs. “Other” is comprised of inter alia fixed income fund, equity fund, infrastructure fund and commodity fund;
- ▣ 90% of assets in AIFs are invested using six strategies, including equity funds, infrastructure funds and commodity funds. Of these six, the fixed income fund is most popular comprising 33% of all net asset value (“NAV”) with commercial real-estate only accounting for 8% of NAV; and
- ▣ AIFs main borrowing source is found to be the reverse repurchase agreement

The data in the Report was gathered for the end of 2016 and covers 60% of AIFs in the European Union. It is the first analysis of the market structure of AIFs in Europe and aims to assist the understanding of potential risks and to inform policy-making processes for AIFs.

The full Report can be found at here.

(vi) Compromise text to the European Commission’s Proposal for a Directive and Regulation on the cross-border distribution of collective investment funds published

On 1 June 2018, the Council of the European Union published two Presidency compromise proposals to the European Commission’s proposed directive and regulation on the ‘cross-border distribution of collective investment funds. The proposals aim to break down barriers to cross-border investments in Europe by harmonising diverging national rules and increasing transparency. These proposals form part of the European Commission’s plan to develop the Capital Markets Union and making distribution simpler, quicker and cheaper for all kinds of investments.

▣ Directive Proposal

The European Commission published their Directive Proposal on 12 March 2018 with the objective of amending the AIFM Directive 2011/61 and the UCITS Directive 2009/65 to amongst other things harmonise the definition of “marketing” and “pre-marketing” so that the standard marketing communications equally apply to marketing communications for AIFs and UCITS thereby levelling the playing field. Currently there is confusion among fund managers regarding when ‘marketing’ is deemed to have taken place under the AIFMD leaving them uncertain as to when their obligation to register the fund kicks in.

▣ Regulation Proposal

The European Commission also published the Regulation Proposal in March 2018 which has the objective of introducing a harmonised framework across Europe for aspects of cross-border distribution funds including in marketing communications, the transparency framework for national provisions on marketing requirements, verification of compliance with national provisions and pre-marketing through the amendment of the European Venture Capital Funds Regulation 345/2013 and the European Social Entrepreneurship Funds Regulation 346/2013.

The consultation report proposes a set of good practices that intend to increase the effectiveness of the audit committee role, including delineating the qualifications and experience that audit committee members should possess. Proposals are also made in relation to the composition of audit committee, the role of the committee in assessing audit quality, and audit committee reporting.

ESMA noted different practices being adopted across European Union CCPs. It also noted differing interpretations of “credit exposures” by national competent authorities rendering a lack of supervisory convergence across the European Union and an uneven playing field.

The letter requested the Commission to clarify whether CCPs are allowed to refrain from collecting margin and default fund contributions from public entities and if so asks whether an amendment to EMIR would be appropriate.

A copy of the letter can be found here.

(iii) ESMA publishes official translations of ESMA Guidelines on transfer of data between trade repositories

On 27 April 2018, ESMA published translations of the ESMA Guidelines on transfer of data between Trade Repositories (“Guidelines”) in each of the official languages of the European Union.

The first consultation paper (“JC 14”) deals with the clearing obligations:

- ▣ JC 14 aims at clarifying which arrangements under covered bonds or securitisations adequately mitigate counterparty risk and thus may benefit from an exemption from the clearing obligation.

While the second consultation paper (“JC 15”) deals with the risk mitigation techniques:

- ▣ JC 15 aims at providing the special treatment currently associated with covered bonds to simple, transparent and standard (“STS”) securitisations however the special treatment will only be extended where a STS securitisation structure meets a specific set of conditions equivalent to those required by covered bonds issuers.

These amendments which were mandated for by the Securitisation Regulation aim to enable specific treatment for STS securitisation to ensure a level playing field with covered bonds. The deadline for responses for both consultations was 15 June 2018.

The draft RTS will now be submitted to the European Commission for endorsement by 18 July 2018 after which they will be considered by the European Parliament and the Council of the European Union. JC 14 can be accessed here and JC 15 can be accessed here.

The report concluded, amongst other things, that:

- ▣ While some areas appear highly harmonised such as the sources of information used by NCAs to verify compliance with EMIR provisions, other areas are less harmonised with fines ranging from €120 up to a maximum of €100 million; and
- ▣ NCAs appear not to have prioritised supervisory actions as regards third country entities trading contracts with substantial effect in the EU, which would be subject to the clearing obligation if established in the EU, and ESMA notes that this point could be further considered.

Responses were received from fourteen jurisdictions representing 95.7% of the covered bond market outstanding in the European Economic Area. All but two concerns received in relation to the package were in relation to the Directive, of which Article 10 – ‘Composition of the cover pool’ proved to be the most contentious due to a perceived lack of clarity regarding what would amount to a “sufficient level of homogeneity of the assets in the cover pool”.

(ix) Advocate General opinion on the interpretation of payment account under the Payment Services Directive

On 19 June 2018, the Advocate General (“AG”) issued an opinion on a preliminary reference concerning the interpretation of "payment account" under the Payment Services Directive (“PSD”) in the case of Bundeskammer für Arbeiter und Angestellte v ING-DiBa Direktbank Austria Niederlassung der ING-DiBa AG (Case C 191/17).

The key issue of concern was whether an "online direct savings account" falls within the scope of a payment account under Article 4(14) of the PSD. In the online direct savings account the customer has unlimited access to the funds but all transfers to and from that account to third parties must be carried out through a "reference account" (i.e. a current account).

The AG states that this is the first time that the Court of Justice of the European Union (“CJEU”) had to interpret the notion of a payment account under the PSD as this is required to determine whether the "online direct savings account" is bound to comply with obligations for payment accounts as set out in the PSD. In accordance with the AG’s opinion, the interpretation of a payment account under PSD does not include an "online direct savings account" as a customer without notice and without any involvement with the bank may, via telebanking, make deposits into and withdrawals from a reference account held in their name. It is therefore the AG’s opinion that an "online direct savings account" is not within scope of the PSD.

A copy of the full opinion can be accessed here.

The Paper states that EFAMA fully supports the Commission’s objective to remove barriers to the cross-border distribution of collective investment funds, allowing investors to take advantage of the European Union Single Market by choosing funds outside of their home Member State.

However, the Paper notes that the Proposal, consisting of a proposed Regulation and Directive, falls short of this objective. With regard to the proposed Directive in particular, the Paper highlights two key aspects of the Commission’s proposal serving to make the passport regime under the UCITS Directive and AIFMD Directive more difficult:

- ▣ The narrow definition of pre-marketing for AIFs; and
- ▣ The restrictive conditions governing the de-notification of UCITS/AIFs.

Regarding the first point, EFAMA calls for an expansion of the pre-marketing conditions for AIFs to also include existing AIFs. Regarding the second point, EFAMA calls for the elimination of the numerical thresholds prescribing conditions for the de-notification of funds from a given host jurisdiction.

The Paper is available here.

On 2 May 2018, the ECB published the first European Union-wide framework to test and improve the resilience of the financial sector against sophisticated cyber-attacks called the ‘European Framework for Threat Intelligence-based Ethical Red Teaming’ (“TIBER-EU”)

The framework document provides an overview of TIBER-EU, the structure of the framework and how it will be implemented across the European Union. It notes that the framework requires close cooperation between national/European Union authorities and financial institutions/infrastructures to establish a programme for performing the threat-intelligence based ethical red teaming test. The test as set out in the document involves stimulating an attack on an entity’s critical functions and underlying systems so that the entity subject to the test can assess its ability to protect, detect and respond to such attacks.

A TIBER-EU Knowledge Centre has been established to monitor the framework.

(vi) ECB’s Report on the ‘Thematic Review on effective risk data aggregation and risk reporting’ finds “unsatisfactory” implementation

On 8 May 2018, the ECB published a report setting out their findings of the thematic review conducted on ‘effective risk data aggregation and risk reporting’ (“Report”) in twenty-five institutions assessed against the Basel Committee’s principles for effective risk data aggregation and reporting (“BCBS 239 principles”).

The Report analyses compliance with BCBS 239 principles by focusing on the three aspects key to ensuring sound risk management which are IT governance and risk infrastructure, data aggregation and reporting. The Report found that none of the twenty-five Eurozone significant institutions had fully implemented the BCBS 239 principles despite the deadline of the beginning of 2016 being given.

The Report aims at communicating the lessons learnt from the Review and focuses on the key areas of concern and provides examples of observed good practices. The Report also notes that the lack of clarity and responsibility for data quality are the primary culprits for the ‘unsatisfactory’ results.

On 25 June 2018, the ECB published an opinion on the European Commission’s proposal for a Regulation on the establishment of the European Monetary Fund (“EMF”) (the “Opinion”).

The Commission’s proposal sets out that the EMF will incorporate and replace the European Stability Mechanism. The proposal intends that the EMF will contribute to safeguarding the financial stability of the euro area, and will also act as a common backstop to the single resolution fund (“SRF”) to address situations where the SRF proves not to be sufficiently funded by the banking sector.

In its Opinion, the ECB supports the incorporation of the ESM into the EU legal framework. The Opinion states that the ESM should be provided with the financial instruments necessary to achieve its objectives and to fulfil its tasks. Furthermore, in order to effectively apply these instruments, the Opinion emphasises the importance of enhancing the ESM’s governance arrangements, in order to achieve swift and credible decision-making procedures, based on high quality independent technical advice.

The Opinion goes on to make specific observations regarding the role of the ECB, the support that the ESM will be tasked to provide to the Single Resolution Board, and renaming the European Stability Mechanism.

The Opinion is available here.

(i) European Commission publishes two directive proposals for “New Deal for Consumers”

On 11 April 2018 the European Commission published two directive proposals and a communication to action the Commission’s ‘New Deal for Consumers’ (“New Deal”).

The New Deal is an initiative to ensure European consumers are benefiting from their rights granted under European Union law. The inadequacy of the current regime was brought to light in the ‘Dieselgate’ scandal and in two reports – Regulatory Fitness and Performance Programme Fitness Check of European Union Consumer and Marketing law (“Fitness Check”) and Consumer Rights Directive evaluation (“CRD Evaluation”) published in May 2017, which conducted an extensive evaluation on existing consumer rules. The two new proposals are based on the recommendations made in the Fitness Check and CRD Evaluation and build on the current legislative framework by amending existing Directives.

▣ Proposal 1

The first proposal is for a “Directive on better enforcement and modernization of European Union consumer protection rules” (“Proposal 1”). Greater online protection for consumers, effective penalties for infringements calculated by percentage of turnover and individual remedies for victims of unfair commercial practices such as aggressive marketing are some of the amendments proposed for the directive.

▣ Proposal 2

The second proposal is for “a Directive on representative actions for the protection of the collective interests of consumers, and repealing the Injunctions Directive 2009/22/EC” (“Proposal 2”). Proposal 2 will remedy the shortcomings of the Injunctions Directive by introducing stronger sanctions, enabling ‘qualified entities’ launch representative actions to protect the collective interests of consumers and facilitating redress for consumers who are victims of such infringements by mechanisms such as requiring traders found in judicial proceedings to have breached consumer rights to inform consumers affected by such breaches and explaining to them how to benefit from redress among other actions. Proposal 2 also contains safeguards to prevent the abuse of process by ‘qualified entities’.

The proposals also introduce amendments to benefit businesses in areas including the right of withdrawal and information requirements.

The proposals must first be reviewed and approved, amended or rejected by the European Council and Parliament if they are to become Directives.

The study had as its objective the goal of obtaining a sounder understanding of the retail investor market in Europe and the obstacles that consumers face when purchasing investment funds, investment driven life insurance or private pensions. The study's findings included that:

- ▣ Costs for similar products vary significantly across Member States;
- ▣ The majority of European investors seek advice from non-independent advisors, such as banks and insurers; and
- ▣ FinTech the potential for new distribution models based on FinTech is promising but must be monitored carefully.

On 25 May 2018, a proposal for a Regulation on the sovereign bond-backed securities (“SBBS”) by the European Commission was published. Feedback from stakeholders is welcome before the deadline of 24 August 2018.

This proposal was adopted by the European Commission so that SBBS could be subjected to the same regulatory treatment as national euro-area sovereign bonds denominated in euro instead of the regulatory treatment of securitisation bonds. The proposal stems from the low risk and high liquidity characteristics of SBBS and their current subjection to unwarranted regulatory obstacles which impede their development. The measures the Commission proposes to introduce in the new Regulation include:

- ▣ Establishing a new class of low risk securities backed by a diversified pool of national government bonds;
- ▣ Common criteria to label a product SBBS;
- ▣ Laying down precise eligibility criteria;
- ▣ Issuance and management of SBBSs;
- ▣ Use of the designation "Sovereign Bond-Backed Securities"; and
- ▣ SBBSs notification and transparency requirements;

The proposed Regulation will require the following:

- ▣ The underlying portfolio must contain sovereign bonds from all Member States of the euro area; and

- ▣ The senior tranche to be fixed at 70% of the overall SBBS issuance which the remaining 30% may be divided in sub-senior (or subordinate) claims as the issuer believes is best.

Prior to publishing this draft Regulation the Commission conducted and published an Impact Assessment on enabling a regulatory framework for the development of SBBS on 28 January 2018. The report found amongst other things that the development of a market for SBBS could reduce risks to financial stability.

(ii) European Commission publishes proposal for a Regulation on promoting fairness and transparency for business users of online intermediation services

On 26 April 2018, the European Commission published a proposal for a Regulation on promoting fairness and transparency for business users of online intermediation services.

For example, the European Commission notes that the providers of such services have a scope to engage in practices that may limit business users' sales through them and risk undermining their trust. Such practices include making unexplained changes in terms and conditions without prior notice and the delisting of goods or services and the suspension of accounts without a clear statement of reasons.

The proposed Regulation also seeks to address the potential for harmful ranking practices as a result of the dependence of businesses on online general search engines.

Points of note within the proposed Regulation include:

- ▣ Providers of online intermediation services will be required to ensure that their terms and conditions for professional users are easily understandable and easily available; and
- ▣ Providers of online intermediation services will be required to set up an internal complaint-handling system.

The European Commission sought feedback from stakeholders on the proposal until 29 June 2018. The proposal may be accessed here.

The Report found that the net income of all males in the Central Bank compared to the net income of all females was 2.7% higher for males – thus it did not relate to different pay for the same job. This figure is attributed to only 39% of directors being female. Other notable findings of the Report included:

- ▣ The gender break down in the Central Bank is 50% male and 50% female;
- ▣ Women made up 49% of division heads; and
- ▣ Women occupy 59% of bank executive and officer roles.

The Report outlined their Diversity & Integration action plan and stated that the Central Bank is undertaking specific actions to address the gender imbalance at senior level.

- ▣ That financial measures are one of the most effective tools to counter proliferation;

On 30 May 2018, the Central Bank published its fourth issue of its Anti-Money Laundering bulletin (“Bulletin”). This bulletin focuses on the findings of the Central Bank’s supervisory engagements with investment firms. The Central Bank sets out its findings in the following three areas:

- ▣ Anti-money laundering (“AML”)/Counter Terrorist Financing (“CTF”) Risk Assessments: Several AML/CFT risk assessments failed to tailor the assessment to the specific money laundering or terrorist financing risks facing the firm, utilising predefined standard group templates, and many were out of date;
- ▣ Politically Exposed Persons (“PEP”) screening and transaction monitoring; Findings included that firms had inadequate controls in place to ensure all customers were subject to regular PEP and Financial Sanction (“FS”) screening to identify any changes in PEP status, or any potential FS exposure; and
- ▣ Resourcing and training: There has been a lack of permanence in the position of Head of Compliance with responsibility for AML/CFT resulting in the failure of firms to initiate improvements in their processes or pausing ongoing projects, while many firms rely on a generic training programme alone for AML/CFT and consequently staff are not sufficiently equipped to deal with money laundering or terrorist financing risks.

For further information a copy of the Bulletin is available here.

On 6 June 2018, the European Commission adopted a draft Delegated Regulation amending the Annex to Council Regulation ‘protection against the effects of extra-territorial application of legislation adopted by a third country, and actions based thereon or resulting therefrom’ (“Blocking Regulation”).

The Delegated Regulation will amend the Annex to the Blocking Regulation by including the United States’ restrictive measures having extra-territorial application and which are in force at the date of its adoption to the Annex. The Delegated Regulation is a direct response to President Trump declaring that the United States will withdraw their waiver of their sanctions under the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action. These sanctions punish both United States companies and persons along with non-United States persons in certain circumstances, where they engage in a commercial relationship with Iran.

The Delegated Regulation by adding the United States’ measures to the Annex will protect citizens and undertakings in the European Union from any sanctions contained in the measures listed in its Annex rendering amongst other things any judgment made against European citizens or undertakings in this context unenforceable thereby enabling European companies and citizens to continue doing business with both the United States and Iran without risk of severe penalties being imposed on them by the government of the United States.

Following the adoption by the European Commission of the Delegated Regulation the European Parliament and the Council will now be allotted two months to object to the Delegated Regulation. Where no objection is raised in this time frame the Delegated Regulation will enter force at the beginning of August.

For further information a copy of the Delegated Regulation is available here.

The proposed Directive will (i) harmonise the definitions and sanctions for criminal offences related to money laundering across the European Union, (ii) bring the European Union law in line with its international obligations and (iii) facilitate more seamless cross-border judicial and police co-operation. Provisions in the proposed Directive include introducing a four year prison sentence for money laundering convictions with judges having the discretion to impose additional sanctions such as fines. Cases linked to organised crime or where the perpetrator committed the crime in their professional capacity will be considered aggravating circumstances. Legal entities will be subject to more stringent sanctions where they are implicated in certain money laundering activities including judicial winding-up.

Before the proposed Directive is enacted the European Parliament's Civil Liberties Committee must vote on the agreed text and then the Directive must be formally adopted by both the European Parliament and Council. On 12 June 2018, the European Commission published a report that examined the impact of potential cash payment restrictions. The report follows a study commissioned by the Commission on the topic, which found that restrictions on payments in cash would not significantly prevent terrorism financing, but indicated that such restrictions could be useful in combatting money laundering.

The report concluded that at this stage, the Commission is not considering any legislative initiative on this matter. Restrictions on cash payments are a sensitive issue for European citizens, many of whom view the possibility to pay in cash as a fundamental freedom, which should not be disproportionately restricted.

The report is available here.

MLD5 fine tunes aspects of the Fourth Money Laundering Directive focusing on countering terrorist financing and increasing transparency in financial transactions. It sets about achieving these twin aims by:

- ▣ Introducing Centralised Beneficial Ownership Registers;
- ▣ Enhancing due diligence requirements for individuals from 'risky countries';
- ▣ Providing access to all citizens to the beneficial register of all companies to quash the corrupt use of letterbox companies created to launder money, hide wealth and avoid paying taxes;

- ▣ Extending the scope of industries subject to the MLD5;
- ▣ Reducing the threshold to €150 for due diligence requirements on prepaid cards;
- ▣ Regulating crypto currencies such as bitcoin;
- ▣ Enhancing the powers of European Union Financial Intelligence Units (“FUIs”); and

Anti-Corruption Legislation

(i) Criminal Justice (Corruption Offences) Act 2018 enacted

On 5 June 2018, the Criminal Justice (Corruption Offences) Act 2018 (“Act”) was enacted. The Act forms part of the Government’s White Collar Crime package announced in 2017. The Act repeals the seven existing Irish anti-corruption laws, dating from as early as 1889 and as recent as 2010. The Act will replace them with a single comprehensive statute and introduce new offences and stronger penalties including imprisonment for up to ten years, an unlimited fine, forfeiture of any bribe and forfeiture of office and prohibition on seeking office for up to ten years for public officials. The new offences include:

- ▣ Trading in influence;
- ▣ Corporate liability offence – where a body corporate may be guilty of an offence if anyone acting on behalf of that body is found guilty of a corruption offence;
- ▣ The presumption of a corrupt donation is expanded making failures to disclose or return a donation grounds for the presumption to apply – recommended by the Mahon Tribunal;
- ▣ The presumption of corrupt gifts is extended to connected persons – recommended by the Mahon Tribunal;
- ▣ Intimidation – where a threat of harm is used instead of a bribe; and
- ▣ Creating or using false documents – required by most International Conventions.

The Act incorporates the six recommendations of the Mahon Tribunal Report and also includes the recommendations made to Ireland specifically from the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (“OECD”), the European Union, the Council of Europe and the United Nations along with international anti-corruption conventions of which Ireland is a member. These conventions include:

- ▣ The Treaty on European Union on the fight against corruption involving officials of the European Communities or officials of Member States of the European Union (1997);

On 10 April 2018 the Article 29 Working Party published its final guidance on consent under the General Data Protection Regulation (“GDPR”) (the “Guidance”).

The Guidance is an update on the draft guidance published on 28 November 2017 and contains some changes to and/or additional commentary on certain aspects of consent including:

- ▣ Bundling of consent – The Guidance provides it will not be valid consent merely because there are competing services the user could choose from;
- ▣ Granular consent – The Guidance provides it is not present where one consent is asked for two different data processing activities;
- ▣ Detriment – The Guidance adds examples of when detriment will be deemed present from withholding consent;
- ▣ Recapturing consent – The Guidance changes its position whereby a child’s consent would expire if not reaffirmed when they reach the age of 16; the 16 year old will now actively have to withdraw consent.

For more information a copy of the Guidance can be found here.

(ii) Article 29 Working Party publish Guidelines on Transparency for the GDPR

On 11 April 2018 the Article 29 Working Party published guidelines on transparency required under Article 13 and 14 of the GDPR (the “Guidelines”).

The Guidelines are a revision of the draft guidelines published in December 2017 which were open to consultation. The Guidelines reiterate much guidance provided in the draft guidelines however also contains minor changes and updates on various aspects of transparency including:

- ▣ Naming recipients of data: This obligation is less onerous than in the draft guidelines and now only requires the name of “meaningful recipients” to be provided to the data subject;

- ❑ International Transfers: The draft guidelines required all third countries receiving personal data to be named, however now requires “meaningful” detail on third country transfers to be disclosed;
- ❑ Clarity on layered approach: The Guidelines add an explanation on how the layered approach can be used in a non-digital environment; and
- ❑ Privacy Notices: The draft guidelines provided practical examples of poor practices that do not satisfy the GDPR’s requirement of policies containing “clear and plain language” thus the Guidelines contain examples of good practice.

For more information a copy of the Guidelines can be found here.

(iii) Article 29 Working Party issue Working Document to establish a Co-Operation Procedure for the approval of "Binding Corporate Rules" under the GDPR

On 11 April 2018 the Article 29 Working Party issued a working document setting forth a co-operation procedure for the approval of Binding Corporate Rules (“BCR”) for controllers and processors under the GDPR (the “Working Document”).

The Working Document aims to provide effective cooperation procedures for Supervisory Authorities in different Member States that are GDPR compliant whilst taking into consideration their past experiences when an application for a Binding Corporate Rules are made. The Working Documents provide a process for identifying the BCR Lead supervisory authority which will be the main point of contact of the undertaking and the cooperation procedure between Supervisory Authorities when approving BCRs.

For further information a copy of the Working Document can be found here.

(iv) European Commission Adopts Recommendation on the Standard Application for Approval of Controller Binding Corporate Rules for the Transfer of Personal Data

On 11 April 2018 the Article 29 Working Party published their Recommendation on the ‘Standard Application for Approval of Controller Binding Corporate Rules for the Transfer of Personal Data’ (the “Recommendation”).

- ❑ Application form; and
- ❑ Background information.

For information on the recommendation and a link to the form please click here.

(v) High Court makes request for a Preliminary Ruling from the CJEU on Model Clauses

On 12 April 2018, the Irish High Court asked the Court of Justice of the European Union (“CJEU”) for a preliminary ruling on whether the use of “Model Clauses” to facilitate data transfers is legal. The Irish Data Protection Commission posed 11 questions to the CJEU about the way data is transferred outside of the EU in this manner, and whether this is in compliance with EU data protection laws.

The case in question has been taken by the Irish Data Protection Commissioner, and follows a legal challenge by lawyer and privacy campaigner, Max Schrems regarding the transfer of his personal data by Facebook, outside of the EU, by means of “Model Clauses”.

A copy of the request made by the Irish High Court to the CJEU is available here.

(vi) Article 29 Working Party publishes Statement on Encryption as a method to protect European citizens’ privacy

On 13 April 2018, the Article 29 Working Party published a statement on the impact of encryption on the protection of individuals regarding processing their personal data in the European Union (the “Statement”).

Law enforcement agencies, whose obligations can require access to encrypted data must ensure that their duties do not reduce the effectiveness of encryption techniques as that can seriously harm the privacy of European citizens. The Statement notes that:

- ▣ Strong and reliable encryption is necessary;
- ▣ Master keys and backdoors deprive encryption of its utility and cannot be used in a secure manner; and
- ▣ Law enforcement agencies should only have proportionate and targeted access under the control of the judiciary to data and should not be provided with ‘master keys’ or ‘backdoors’ to carry out their functions.

A copy of the Statement can be found here.

(vii) ESMA requests further clarity on draft guidelines regarding derogations under Article 49 of the GDPR

On 13 April 2018, a response to the Article 29 Working Party’s February consultation on draft guidelines on Article 49 of the GDPR was published. The guidelines related to derogations for the transfer of personal data to ‘third countries’.

ESMA’s response was generally supportive of the draft guidelines however it cautioned that clarifications will need to be made in the guidelines regarding “public interest derogations” and their application to financial supervisors’ legal statutes, missions or objectives. As international co-operation between European Union and non-European Union financial supervisors is essential to achieve effective financial supervision, the derogations must be broad enough to enable European Union financial supervisors to fulfil their missions, whilst complying with applicable European Union data protection requirements.

A copy of the response can be found here.

(viii) Press Release on the Article 29 Working Party's April Plenary Meeting Published

On 19 April 2018, a press release was issued by the Article 29 Working Party following its April plenary meeting which highlights the four major topics addressed at the meeting:

- ▣ Establishment of a social media working group to develop a long-term strategy to prevent Facebook and Cambridge Analytica scenarios occurring again;
- ▣ Adopted an opinion on the interoperability between European Union information systems for borders, visas and police cooperation, a statement on encryption and addressed letters to the European Union Commissioner among others in relation to compliance with the GDPR; and
- ▣ Reviewed of ongoing work of Article 29 and its mandates.

A copy of the press release can be found here.

(ix) Position paper published on the ‘derogations from the obligation to maintain records of processing activities pursuant to Article 30(5) of the GDPR

On 19 April 2018, the Article 29 Working Party published its position paper on the ‘derogations from the obligation to maintain records of processing activities pursuant to Article 30(5) of the GDPR (the “Position Paper”).

Article 30(5) of the GDPR provides that the obligation to keep a record of processing activities does not apply to organisations employing less than 250 people save for certain circumstances. The Position Paper provides an interpretation of the derogating provision and offers its opinion for when companies with fewer than 250 employees will not benefit from the derogation and be required to maintain a record of processing activities. Such opinions include that the derogation under Article 30(5) is not absolute and will not absolve an organisation from their obligation when processing data in three scenarios:

- ▣ Processing that is likely to result in a risk to the rights and freedoms of data subjects;
- ▣ Processing that is not occasional; and

- ❑ Processing that includes special categories of data or personal data relating to criminal convictions and offences.

The Position Paper provides examples of processing which falls into the above three categories.

A copy of the Position Paper can be found here.

(x) Q&A published for first European Union-wide legislation on cybersecurity – Directive on Security of Network and Information Systems

On 4 May 2018, the European Commission published a Questions and Answers document (“Q&A”) on the ‘Directive on Security of Network and Information systems’ (the “NIS Directive”) to assist Member States transpose the directive by the deadline of 9 May 2018 having come into force in August 2016.

The NIS Directive is the first European Union wide legislation to come into force on cybersecurity. The chief aim of the NIS Directive is to achieve a consistent and high level of cybersecurity of information and network systems across the European Union. The NIS Directive sets about achieving this aim by:

- ❑ Increasing Member States’ capabilities of ensuring cybersecurity;
- ❑ Increasing European Union level cooperation;
- ❑ Imposing incident reporting and risk management obligations on operators of essential and digital services.

The Q&A contains answers to the following questions, a summary of some such answers is provided below:

- ❑ How are Member States improving their national cybersecurity capabilities?
- ❑ How will Member States cooperate under the NIS Directive?
- ❑ How does the cooperation group function? What has it achieved so far?
- ❑ How does the Computer Security Incident Response Team network function?
- ❑ What are operators of essential services, and what will they be required to do?

They include private businesses and public entities which have an important role to provide security in healthcare, transport, energy, banking, financial market infrastructure, digital infrastructure and water supply. They are required to prevent risks, ensure network and information systems are secure and must handle incidents appropriately.

- ▣ How will Member States identify operators of essential services?
- ▣ Which sectors does the Directive cover? The list includes credit institutions, trading venues, central counterparties and internet exchange points among the sectors covered by the NIS Directive.
- ▣ What kind of incidents should be notified by the operators of essential services?
- ▣ What are digital service providers and do they have to notify cyber incidents?
- ▣ What are the obligations for digital service providers?
- ▣ What is the timeline for implementation of the Directive?

The NIS Directive provides Member States until 9 November 2018 to identify the particular entities which will qualify as “operators of essential services” requiring such entities to implement the appropriate security measures.

For more information please find a copy of the Q&A document here.

(xi) Corrigendum revising Article 37 of the GDPR

On 4 May 2018, the European Parliament published a corrigendum to the GDPR.

While the majority of the changes made to the GDPR simply clarify the existing text, it is worth noting that the corrigendum revises Article 37 of the GDPR which relates to the requirement to appoint a data protection officer (“DPO”) in certain circumstances.

In particular, while the original text of the GDPR indicated that it was necessary for a data controller or a data processor to appoint a DPO where its core activities involved the processing on a large scale of (i) special categories of personal data and (ii) personal data relating to criminal convictions and offences on a large scale, the corrigendum has revised this text to provide that a DPO must be appointed where it processes either category of personal data on a large scale, meaning that a larger number of organisations may now be required to appoint a DPO. In particular the potential impact of this requirement on regulated entities such as funds, fund service providers and investment firms will need to be carefully assessed.

Where it is determined that a DPO is not required, the rationale behind this decision should be recorded and kept on file.

A copy of the corrigendum is available here.

For further information on the corrigendum, please refer to the following briefing issued by Dillon Eustace, available here.

(xii) Data Protection Commission provides information update prior to GDPR coming into force

On 8 May 2018, the Irish Data Protection Commission (“DPC”) published a ‘GDPR – Information Update 8 May 2018’ (“Update”). The Update provided a brief summary of the changes the GDPR will bring in relation to:

- ▣ The requirement to register data processing activities with the DPC and to pay the applicable fee ceased on 25 May 2018;
- ▣ The obligation on the DPC to keep a public register of such processing activities also ceased; and
- ▣ The Update also provided information on when an organisation will be required to appoint a designated data protection officer (“DDPO”) and what such organisations will be required to do such as publishing the details about their DDPO.

A copy of the Update is available here.

(xiii) Irish Data Protection Commission gives guidance to data processors and controllers on obligatory contracts under GDPR

On 9 May 2018, the Irish Data Protection Commission published a ‘Practical Guide to Data Controller to Data Processor Contracts under the GDPR (the “Guidance”).

The Guidance is published to assist data controllers (“Controllers”) and data processors (“Processors”) to meet their obligation introduced by the GDPR to enter into legally binding contracts governing the processing of personal data when a Controller instructs a Processor is engaged in the processing of personal data on behalf of a Controller. The Guidance provides:

- ▣ The context of this obligation;
- ▣ The circumstances whereby Controllers and Processors will be obliged to enter into such contracts; and
- ▣ A list of the mandatory provisions which must be included in all such data processing contracts such as that the Processor ensures that any person(s) processing personal data is subject to a duty of confidentiality.

For further information please find the Guidance here.

(xiv) New rules on data protection for the European Union’s institutions agreed

On 23 May 2018, agreement on a new regulation on the handling of personal data by the European Union’s institutions and other bodies, offices and agencies (together the “Agencies”) was reached by representatives of the Council and Parliament to align with the GDPR entering force on 25 May 2018. Similar to the GDPR, the Regulation guarantees certain rights of data subjects, provides principles to be followed by the Agencies and enhances the role of data protection officers within each European Union institution and that of the European data protection supervisor.

Before the new rules become binding the text will first undergo linguistic revision and must then be formally adopted by the European Council and Parliament.

For further information please find a copy of the text of the new rules here, and a press release in relation to same here.

(xv) Irish Deputy Data Protection Commissioner lists organisations prone to inspection under GDPR

On 23 May 2018, the Data Protection Commission (“DPC”) published a press release outlining how it will be enforcing the GDPR. The DPC is responsible for monitoring the proper application of the GDPR by all organisations and businesses who have a presence in Ireland. In the press release the DPC outlines:

- ❑ The DPC will not operate a grace period after 25 May 2018 when assessing breaches as the GDPR provided for an implementation period of two years before 25 May 2018
- ❑ Measures that can be taken by organisations to minimise and mitigate against potential consequences and sanctions arising from breaches of the GDPR.
- ❑ The obligation of transparency ensuring that individuals can easily understand what, how and why their data is being processed will be the primary obligation the DPC ensures is complied with.

The DPC outlined that certain organisations will be more prone to close inspection by the DPC. These include organizations engaged in:

- ❑ Intensive online tracking and profiling;
- ❑ Online internet platforms (including online apps);
- ❑ Organisations which process special categories of data such as health or biometric data or other high-risk personal data such as financial and insurance data;
- ❑ Companies which use emerging technologies such as Artificial Intelligence and Internet of Things; or
- ❑ Companies which are intensively engaged in automated decision making and profiling of individuals.

For further information on how the DPC has strategised to tackle enforcing the GDPR in Ireland please find a copy of the full press release here.

(xvi) Data Protection Act 2018 signed into law by President Higgins

On 24 May 2018, the long awaited Data Protection Act 2018, sponsored by the Minister for Justice and Equality was enacted (the “Act”). The Act, comprising of 232 sections will overhaul the regulatory and enforcement framework and aims to give further effect to existing European legislation. In particular there are five primary aspects to this legislation:

- ▣ It repeals the Data Protection Act 1988, as amended, save provisions relating to the processing of personal data for national security, defence and international relations of the State;
- ▣ It transposes the Police and Criminal Justice Authorities Directive (2016/680) which regulates the processing of personal data by law enforcement authorities;
- ▣ It provides for the limited national derogations from obligations imposed in General Data Protection Regulation (“GDPR”);
- ▣ It provides new enforcement powers and mechanisms for the Data Protection Commission; and
- ▣ It provides for the consequential amendments to sixty-five Acts of the Oireachtas while revoking other statutory instruments as a result GDPR and this Act.

The Act legislates for the derogations provided in the GDPR, which include:

- ▣ Creating the offence of processing personal data of a child under eighteen years of age for the purposes of direct marketing, profiling or micro-targeting;
- ▣ Creating a specific right to be forgotten to children;
- ▣ Assigning the Irish Data Protection Commissioner with the task of encouraging the development of codes of conduct to ensure children avail of their rights bestowed by GDPR;
- ▣ Enabling fines of up to one million euro to be imposed by public bodies and authorities where a breach occurs;
- ▣ Equipping the DPC with enhanced investigative and enforcement powers including the power to examine witnesses under oath, conduct oral hearings and strengthen their search and seizure powers;
- ▣ Restricting individual rights of legal privilege;
- ▣ Permitting the processing of health data for insurance and pension purposes and data relating to criminal convictions and offences in specific circumstances; and

- ▣ Establishing several criminal offences that may be tried by summary conviction or by a trial of indictment with the latter providing a sanction of up to €250,000 and/or five years imprisonment.

For further information a copy of Minister Flanagan's commencement order is available here and a copy of the Act is available here.

(xvii) Irish Commissioner for Data Protection welcomes GDPR

On 25 May 2018, Helen Dixon the Irish Commissioner for Data Protection released a statement welcoming the application of the GDPR.

Dixon's statement demonstrated, amongst other things, satisfaction at the awareness of the GPDR in Ireland, noting that a survey conducted in May 2018 showed that 90% of Irish small and medium enterprises were aware of the GDPR showing a two fold increase from the previous year.

A copy of the press release is available here.

(xviii) European Data Protection Board conducts first plenary meeting

On 25 May 2018, the European Data Protection Board ("EDPB") – the successor of the Article 29 Working Party, held its first plenary meeting.

The EDPB is comprised of the heads of national supervisory authorities, the European Data Protection Supervisor ("EDPS") and a representative of the European Commission. Its role will include safeguarding the consistent application of the GDPR across Europe but will also involve advising the European Commission on matters including the level of data protection available in third countries and will promote cooperation between national supervisory authorities.

The meeting involved electing the Chair and two Vice-Presidents, signing the Memorandum of Understanding ("MoU") with the EDPS and adopting a statement on the ePrivacy Regulation. The MoU outlined how the EDPB and the EDPS will cooperate when carrying out their functions in light of the GDPR.

The EDPB also issued a statement on the 'revision of the ePrivacy Regulation and its impact on the protection of individuals with regard to the privacy and confidentiality of their communications.' The statement calls for the adoption of the new ePrivacy Regulation promptly and comments on the amendments to the ePrivacy Regulation proposed by co-legislators. Such comments included its support for the European Parliament's strengthening of Article 10 requiring privacy by default in respect of software settings and to provide a technical solution for websites to obtain a valid consent. The EDPB however suggests that the Article should also explicitly apply to operating systems of smartphones, tablets, or any other 'user agent', in order to ensure that communication applications can take into account the choices of their users, no matter what technical means are involved.

For further information please find a copy of the press release here, a copy of the MoU here, and a copy of the statement on the ePrivacy Regulation here.

(xix) Draft Guidelines published for consultation regarding certification criteria under the GDPR by EDPB

On 25 May 2018, the EDPB adopted a draft version of the ‘Guidelines on certification and identifying certification criteria in accordance with Articles 42 and 43 of the GDPR’ (the “Guidelines”).

The Guidelines have been published for a public consultation with the EDPB welcoming input from all stakeholders before the deadline of 12 July 2018.

A copy of the draft Guidelines is available here.

(xx) EDPB issues Guidelines on derogations under Article 49

On 25 May 2018, the EDPB adopted the final version of the ‘Guidelines on derogations applicable to international transfers’ (the “Guidelines”) under Article 49 of the GDPR. The Guidelines which had been subject to a public consultation have integrated some of the responses into the final version. The Guidelines provide amongst other things:

- ▣ Practical examples of the derogations under Article 49 of the GDPR and their use e.g. intra-group use;
- ▣ Guidance on the “occasional” and “necessity” test; and
- ▣ Specifies that derogations that are not strictly limited to “occasional” or “not repetitive” transfers must be interpreted restrictively.

For further information please find a copy of the Guidelines here.

(xxi) Irish Data Protection Commission publishes guidance on limiting data subject rights and the application of Article 23 GDPR

In May 2018, the Irish Data Protection Commission (the “DPC”) published guidelines as regards limiting data subject rights and the application of Article 23 of the GDPR.

The GDPR, as per Article 23, prescribes a mechanism to permit the restrictions of data subject rights, provided for in Articles 12 – 22 and Article 34 of the GDPR, in particular and specific circumstances.

Section 60 of the Data Protection Act 2018 gives further effect to Article 23 of the GDPR setting out a specific procedure in relation to bodies who wish to make regulations to restrict the rights afforded by the GDPR under Articles 12 – 22 and Article 34.

The DPC states that these guidelines are to be viewed as a support to those organisations that wish to draft regulations to restrict the application of the rights afforded under Articles 12 – 22 and Article 34 of the GDPR.

The guidelines are available here.

(xxii) Data Protection Commission published list for public consultation of all organisations to be subject to mandatory Data Protection Impact Assessments

On 6 June 2018, the Data Protection Commission published a press release notifying parties that they have launched a public consultation on the draft list of processing operations for which a Data Protection Impact Assessment will be mandatory.

Responses must be submitted prior to the deadline of 4 July 2018.

A copy of the press release announcing the consultation is available here and a copy of the consultation paper is available here.

(xxiii) Proposal for a Cybersecurity Act text is agreed within the European Council and is adopted by the Telecommunications Council

On 8 June 2018, the Telecommunications Council adopted a 'general approach on the Cybersecurity Act proposals'. The approved and adopted text was published by the Council of the European Union on 29 May 2018 entitled the 'General Approach' document "to the proposal for a 'Regulation on ENISA the "European Union Agency for Cybersecurity" and repealing Regulation 526/2013 and on Information and Communication Technology cybersecurity certification' (the "Cybersecurity Act").

The proposals for the Cybersecurity Act, originally published in September 2017 by the European Commission, consist of measures to address cyber-attacks and to develop stronger cybersecurity within the European Union. The Cybersecurity Act contains two major strands:

- ▣ The introduction of a permanent Agency, the 'European Agency for Cybersecurity' which will be a newer version of the 'European Agency for Network and Information Security ("ENISA") and new powers to enable it to provide effective and efficient support to Member States, European Union institutions and other stakeholders' efforts to enhance the cybersecurity in the European Union; and
- ▣ A European cybersecurity certification framework, which will among other things, verify that products and services in the digital world are cyber secure and address the current market fragmentation by allowing cybersecurity certificates issued under particular schemes to be recognised in all Member States.

The European Parliament will now need to consider the revised text of the Cybersecurity Act and is called on to do so before the end of 2018.

The text adopted by the Council is available here and the Statement here.

(xxiv) European Union –United States Privacy Shield called to be suspended

On 12 June 2018, a press release from the European Parliament reported that a slim majority of the Members of the European Parliament's ("MEPs") Civil Liberties Committee ("LIBE") voted in favour of suspending the European Commission's Privacy Shield agreement with the United States unless they introduce more stringent data protection safeguards by 1 September 2018. The full house is expected to vote on the matter in July 2018. The vote is another consequence of the Facebook-Cambridge Analytica data breach which demonstrated the shortcomings of the Privacy Shield.

While the vote is not binding, it places pressure on the European Commission to take measures to ensure that the United States fully complies with the GDPR.

The press release further disclosed MEPs concern about the recent adoption of the 'Clarifying Lawful Overseas Use of Data Act' by the United States which will provide the United States with far reaching powers including providing access to United States foreign police to the personal data across borders. This has the potential to have severe implications for GDPR.

For further information please find a copy of the press release here.

(xxv) Ministers publish Data Sharing and Governance Bill 2018

On 12 June 2018, the 'Data Sharing and Governance Bill 2018' (the "Bill") was published, following approval by the Government. The Bill has the objective of:

- ▣ Regulating the sharing of information which includes personal data, between public bodies which occurs extensively at present;
- ▣ Regulating the management of information by public bodies;
- ▣ Establishing a base of registries;
- ▣ Collecting public service information;
- ▣ Establishing a data governance board; and
- ▣ Providing for related matters.

A copy of the Bill, as initiated on 12 June 2018, is available here. As of 29 June 2018, the Bill is before Seanad Éireann, Third Stage at the first Additional List of Amendments which is available here.

(xxvi) European Parliament, Council and Commission reach political agreement on free flow of non-personal data

On 19 June 2018, the European Parliament, Council and Commission reached a political agreement on new rules that will allow data to be stored and processed everywhere in the EU without unjustified restrictions. The new rules will:

- ▣ Ensure the free flow of data across borders, by setting a framework for data storing and processing across the EU, prohibiting data localisation restrictions;
- ▣ Ensure public authorities will be able to access data for scrutiny and supervisory control wherever it is stored or processed in the EU; and
- ▣ Encourage creation of codes of conduct for cloud services to facilitate switching between cloud service providers under clear deadlines.

A press release announcing the agreement is available here. An accompanying Q&A fact sheet is available here.

(xxvii) Council Decision adopted the amendment of Annex XI (Electronic communication, audiovisual services and information society) and Protocol 37 containing the list provided for in Article 101 to the EEA Agreement (General Data Protection Regulation)

On 22 June 2018, the Council of the European Union published the Council Decision (EU) 2018/893 of 18 June 2018 on the position to be adopted on behalf of the European Union within the EEA Joint Committee concerning the amendment of Annex XI (Electronic communication, audiovisual services and information society) and Protocol 37 containing the list provided for in Article 101 to the EEA Agreement (General Data Protection Regulation).

A copy of the Council Decision (EU) 2018/893 can be accessed here.

(xxviii) European Banking Federation co-signs letter on EU cybersecurity certification proposal

On 25 June 2018, the European Banking Federation (“EBF”) published an open letter on the EU Cybersecurity certification framework proposal. The EBF co-signed the letter alongside seven other industry associations in key areas for jobs and economic development in Europe.

The letter was published in advance of the expected vote on the proposal on 10 July in the European Parliament’s Industry, Research and Energy (“ITRE”) committee. The open letter, in particular, highlights the following points:

- ▣ For it to remain a competitive advantage for industry, a voluntary approach to certification is key;

- ▣ Conformity assessment methods and requirements should be defined in the EU cybersecurity certification schemes and not in the regulation itself so as to allow for a fit-for-purpose approach according to risks and use cases; and
- ▣ The adoption of the EU cybersecurity certification schemes should include a process to ensure that they are aligned or could take part in existing international mutual recognition agreements to ensure that the EU certificates are globally recognised.

The open letter is available here.

(xxix) Update regarding use of IMI for GDPR purposes

On 27 June 2018, the European Data Protection Board (“EDPB”) published an update on the use of the Internal Market Information System (“IMI”) for GDPR purposes.

On 25 May, the first case was initiated in IMI, and shortly afterwards the supervisory authorities started to cooperate via the system. Currently, more than 30 cross-border cases are under investigation.

- ▣ Optimism: with 83.3% believing volumes will increase or remain the same over the next three to five years;
- ▣ Concerns: with the burden and challenges of regulatory compliance being the highest concern and then benchmark reform and Brexit as the second and third greatest concern respectively. Furthermore 63.9% of respondents felt the cost of using derivatives would increase over the next three to five years;
- ▣ New technologies: including distributor ledgers, artificial intelligence and cryptocurrencies expected to have potential costs savings affecting all areas of the firms' derivatives over the next three to five years by 52% of respondents.

The common approach for certain European Union/United States derivatives trading venues was announced by the European Commission and United States Commodity Futures and Trading Commission in October 2017. To address the questions raised since its inception the Guide uses a frequently asked questions format to address the common queries of market participants.

The Guide also attempts to set out how cross-border trading will work in practice and observes the effect mutual recognition has on the order flow of trades executed, lists the primary benefits and suggests where further alignment would be welcome.

A copy of the Guide can be found here.

(vi) ISDA speech on benchmark reform initiatives

On 15 May 2018, ISDA published a speech delivered by ISDA Chief Executive, Scott O'Malia on the reforms to strengthen the interest rates on benchmarks, namely the benchmark reform initiatives.

The speech emphasises the importance of understanding the changes and their effects and gives an overview of ISDA's work to ensure a smooth transition from the interbank offered rates ("IBOR") to risk-free rates. The work includes:

- ▣ Publishing an IBOR benchmark transition report in June 2018; and
- ▣ Releasing a market-wide consultation on the credit spread methodology and term fixing adjustments that should apply for derivatives fallbacks, i.e. where an IBOR is permanently discontinued.

For more information a copy of the full speech can be found here.

On 23 May 2018, ISDA published its response ("Response") to the European Commission's Proposal for a Regulation on the 'law applicable to the third-party effects of assignments of claims ("Claims Proposal") and the Communication from the Commission on the applicable law to the proprietary effects of transactions in securities ("Securities Communication") which were both published on 12 March 2018.

The Response is formatted as a letter and contains ISDA's reaction to primarily the Claims Proposal with a few words on the Securities Communication since it is a closely related measure and also forms part of the 2015 Action Plan of Capital Markets Union. The Response focuses on issues contained in the Claims Proposal and Securities Communication that are pertinent to the derivatives market and raises a concern that the intended scope and drafting of Article 4(2) of the Commission Proposal are not sufficiently clear.

For further information on the Response please find a copy of it here.

(viii) Academic Paper on initial margin framework for non-cleared derivatives

On 25 May 2018, ISDA published an academic paper on the regulatory initial margin framework for the non-cleared derivatives market, by Rama Cont, Chair of Mathematical Finance at Imperial College London (the “Paper”).

The Paper analyses the reasoning for the ten-day liquidity horizon which non-cleared trades are subjected to under the initial margin rules and argues that it is inappropriate noting that cleared trades are only subjected to five days.

The Paper advocates for an alternative method to calculate the length of the liquidation horizon which involves taking into account the size of the position in comparison to the market depth of the asset, the default management process, as well as the size and complexity of trades.

A copy of the Paper is available here.

(ix) ISDA publishes Digital Iteration of the Common Domain Model

On 5 June 2018, ISDA published the first digital representation of the Common Domain Model (“CDM”).

The ISDA CDM is intended to provide an industry standard blueprint for how derivatives are traded and managed across the lifecycle, and how each step in the process can be represented in an efficient, standardised fashion.

This initial CDM provides a standard digital representation of events and actions that occur during the life of a derivatives trade, expressed in a machine-readable format. Using this common standard will enhance consistency and facilitate interoperability across firms and platforms, irrespective of the programming language ultimately used for each technology.

This CDM covers interest rate and credit derivatives products, along with an initial set of core business events, including ‘new transaction’, ‘rate reset’, ‘partial termination’, ‘allocation’, ‘novation’ and ‘compression’.

The Common Domain Model is available on the member section of the ISDA website, which may be accessed here.

The Report notes the lack of consistency in relation to identifying and recognizing equivalence procedures of third countries and therefore calls on the Commission to adopt a legislative act establishing:

- ▣ A clear framework for a transparent, coherent and consistent application of equivalence procedures so that a standardized process when determining equivalence is introduced; and
- ▣ The review of equivalence decisions to be performed at least once every three years and in public by the relevant European Supervisory Authority.

A copy of the report can be found here.

It sets out (i) important matters to be addressed during the transition period such as the relationship between United Kingdom firms and European Economic Area investors and clients, (ii) the pieces of legislation most pertinent for the United Kingdom's alternative asset management industry and (iii) suggests how the United Kingdom should tackle restructuring their domestic regulatory framework to comply with the existing European Union regulatory requirements. In its Opinion, the EBA asks national competent authorities to ensure that financial institutions take practical steps now to prepare for the possibility that the UK will leave the EU without either a ratified withdrawal agreement or a transition period in place.

In particular, the Opinion aims to ensure that national competent authorities:
